High-Efficiency Electric Home Rebate (HEEHR) Program

High-Efficiency Electric Home Rebate (HEEHR) Program = New $4.275 Billion Program

ELECTRIFICATION REBATES

THIS IS A NEW PROGRAM

- General Info: $4.5 billion over 10 years for state and tribal programs that are intended to deeply discount or fully fund electrification and efficiency projects or electrical appliances for low- and moderate-income households.
- Who manages it: The State Energy Office will be responsible for setting up your state's HEEHR program
- When will it start: Incentives apply to equipment installed on January 1, 2023, or later
- When will it become available: It's expected to take between 12 and 24 months for this funding to be available through your state

ELIGIBILITY

- Qualifying households: Individuals or families whose annual incomes are less than 80 percent of the area median or not greater than 150 percent of the median.
- Coverage: The lowest-income households are eligible for point-of-sale rebates covering the full cost of certain electrical appliances or efficiency projects. Moderate-income individuals and families can get rebates for up to 50% of costs.
- Cumulative rebates available to each household total $14,000.
